Businesses to be fined for massive car park fly-tip

- Huge illegal dump in South Grove car park cleared
- Restaurants and businesses to face prosecution

Restaurants and businesses across the South East face prosecution after tonnes of rubbish and waste were dumped illegally in a Walthamstow car park.

It took almost a week for the Council to clear the dump at South Grove car park, gather evidence to help identify those responsible and safely dispose of the rubbish at licensed dumps.

At least seven businesses are being investigated from across the South East after menus, leaflets and kitchen waste were found.

Cllr Clyde Loakes, Deputy Leader and Cabinet Member for the Environment, said: "This was one of the worst incidents we have seen in Waltham Forest – an entire car park, covered in waste.

"It seems these businesses hired illegal waste carriers to dispose of their rubbish instead of following their legal trade waste agreements, and this was the result.

"If you run a business, you have to know how your waste is being disposed. Don't cut corners to save a few quid – we will investigate and if we find your details, you will receive a heavy fine and we will publicly name and shame you."

"Council crews have worked around the clock to get this cleared up. Cllr Loakes added: "I know residents will join me in thanking the clean-up teams."

Council crews clear on average three-and-a-half tonnes of rubbish and litter from Waltham Forest streets every night.

Keeping Waltham Forest Clean and Safe

SPECIAL EDITION

Oasis of serenity and joy celebrates reaching 50 years

Waltham Forest's much-loved environmental education centre Suntrap celebrated its 50th anniversary on Sunday 15 October as over 500 visitors enjoyed activities including guided forest walks, eco-crafts and a camp-fire cookout.

It was the finale of a series of events taking place in 2017 to celebrate the centre's milestone anniversary. Since April, visitors have enjoyed a range of activities including flower-planting, open days and craft sessions that show just how valued Suntrap is in the borough and beyond.

Cllr Grace Williams, Cabinet Member for Children's Services, said: "It's been a great day here at the wonderful Suntrap Centre as we join staff, volunteers and residents celebrating 50 fantastic years. Seeing so many smiling, happy faces of children enjoying the event really goes to show how important this place has been for thousands of Waltham Forest young people and their families.

"There will be parents here with their little ones who remember visiting Suntrap as children themselves. We hope that in another 50 years' time when the children are grown up they will return with their own families to enjoy this oasis of serenity and nature in our bustling city.

"Last year, the Centre welcomed over 10,000 people. I'm really confident we'll see an increase this year after a successful summer of great activities. Congratulations to all the staff and volunteers for the huge amount of effort they have put in."

The Suntrap Centre is situated in ancient woodland in Epping Forest, which is an important part of Waltham Forest's natural heritage. Visitors can explore and learn about this wonderful area and take part in outdoor adventure sessions, craft activities and educational classes about this unique green haven in north London.

The Wetlands opens to public for the first time in 150 years

The Walthamstow Wetlands are a scenic haven in the borough

Europe's largest urban wetland nature reserve, Walthamstow Wetlands, welcomed its first visitors this weekend.

In 2012, the Mayor of London called the Wetlands 'London's Best

Kept Secret', and after investment by the Council, Thames Water and London Wildlife Trust the site is now fully accessible for families, walkers, wildlife fans, anglers and bird watchers alike.

It has taken ten years of planning, renewal, conservation work and investment, including a £4.47m National Lottery grant, to make the reservoir site accessible to visitors for the first time in 150 years.

The Wetlands make a perfect day out for anyone looking to escape the city and find tranquillity and nature on their doorstep.

The site is made up of ten reservoirs that function as a Thames Water operational water supply site, but also a place of refuge for many waterbirds and a stopover for migrating birds. The Wetlands are also home to the city's largest fishery.

Two historic buildings have been renovated as part of the project, with the Engine House being transformed into a visitor centre, café and education space and the Coppermill Tower becoming an accessible viewing platform.

Activities and events are planned for throughout the year, and London Wildlife Trust will be delivering a programme of interactive learning, volunteering and school engagement.

Council Leader, Cllr Clare Coghill, said: "Walthamstow Wetlands is a unique space in London. We feel very fortunate to have this fantastic oasis on our doorstep and are so pleased that members of the public are now able to experience this open space in urban London."

Gordon Scorer, Chief Executive of London Wildlife Trust, said: "As well as being hugely important for wildlife, Walthamstow Wetlands is a fantastic place to enjoy nature alongside the rugged industrial heritage of Victorian London."

Tramworks purchase to help local economies grow

The Tramworks has been purchased by the Council as the first property in a new investment portfolio.

Building a portfolio of investments is one of the ways the Council is attempting to become a self funded council – a decision Cabinet took in July. The investment portfolio is hoped to generate £2million income by 2019.

The purchase of The Tramworks in Walthamstow is taking these plans one step closer to reality.

The Tramworks is a workspace and creative hub, just off Hoe Street – which itself is emerging as a 'Creative Corridor'.

The unique space is made up of two-storey 19th Century mews located next to Mirth, Marvel and Maud. It has 21,640 sq ft of studios, open plan office space, restaurant and residential accommodation within 54 warehouse style units in two buildings.

The Tramworks already contains recording studios, film companies, graphics and animation companies, yoga studios, branding consultants, publishers and restaurants.

The work space is completely unique in the borough, as the broad range of businesses takes time to build up, curate and establish itself.

Council Leader Cllr Clare Coghill said: "This purchase is the first step in growing our portfolio of investments to help build a sustainable future. Local Authority funding has dropped every year and we now have to look at other solutions so we can continue to fund vital services.

"The Tramworks is an excellent start and fits our ambitions to grow the local economy and create thriving town centres. It also means we can protect and encourage our new creative quarter."

The Tramworks was previously a tram turnaround for the Hoe Street tramline

The Tramworks gained its name from being a tram turnaround. Built in 1882, it has been home to a wide range of businesses-from blacksmiths to printers, mineral water manufacturers to advertising agencies. It also includes converted stables that once housed horses working for the horse-drawn trams which serviced Hoe Street.

Stay off the zig-zag lines

St Mary's primary pupils show off the campaign poster

Schools across the borough are backing a zero-tolerance campaign against parents parking on zig zag lines.

Posters showing children lying on the zig zag lines were designed by Road Safety UK and will be displayed in schools. Campaign banners will be put on school fences to remind parents that it is illegal to park on yellow zig zag lines between 8am and 4pm, Monday to Friday.

Lucy Powell, a Year 6 pupil at Waltham Forest borough school said: "We see a lot of cars parking on the zig zag lines outside school. It could be really dangerous if children are crossing the road."

Drivers caught parking on zig zag lines in restricted hours will be issued with £100 Fixed Penalty Notices or face legal action with a fine of up to £1,000 under new Public Space Protection Orders.

Councillor Clyde Loakes said: "Too many parents who drive have been failing to respect parking and traffic regulations outside schools."

"There are too many instances of parents dropping off and picking up pupils on zig zag lines, as well as double yellow lines. These parents are endangering the lives of their own children and their classmates. Drivers need to understand if they are caught doing this they will face fines."

St Mary's recently ran a Safer to School campaign that aimed to discourage dangerous parking and Getting kids to school, sustainably

- Waltham Forest schools have received more awards through Transport for London's STARS programme than any another London borough.
- STARS stands for Sustainable Travel: Active, Responsible, Safe. Schools that get the award must demonstrate they have encouraged more children to walk, scoot and cycle to school.
- Seven Waltham Forest schools have achieved a gold rating, the most on record in any borough. Eight schools got a silver rating, while 25 schools got bronze STARS ratings.
- Davies Lane and Edinburgh Primaries both impressively jumped from bronze rating to gold. It is hoped a further 10 schools will achieve STARS next year.
- Councillor Loakes said: "I am incredibly proud of the 40 Waltham Forest schools with STARS ratings, who are clearly taking the issue of improving our air quality and the challenge around childhood obesity so seriously."
- To have 7 rated as gold STAR is incredible. I congratulate the staff, children and parents at our 40 schools with STARS ratings for their excellent work helping make Waltham Forest a safer, greener and healthier place. I urge all other schools to get on board quickly."

Litter teams clear Autumn leaves from your streets

The changing season and falling leaves have brought an extra heavy workload for the borough's litter clearing teams.

Autumn leaves may be natural, but they still count as litter and have to be cleared quickly.

Leaves can become slippery if they get wet, which is dangerous for drivers and pedestrians.

Four extra teams of two or three Council officers each are currently out in the borough removing leaves from streets and pavements.

A fleet of 12 mechanical sweepers are helping with their efforts.

Every year in the Autumn approximately 50 tonnes of leaves are collected by these teams.

As many of the leaves as possible are composted.

If your street looks particularly leafy one morning then report it to the Council as one of the teams is out every day attending to areas of heavy leaf fall that have been reported by residents.

In the coming weeks the number of leafing teams will increase to seven, as the weather gets colder and even more leaves start falling.

Cllr Clyde Loakes, Deputy Council Leader and Cabinet Member for the Environment, said: "Having so many trees in the borough is a great thing for our environment, but it also means that in the Autumn there are huge quantities of leaves to clear from your streets."

Cllr Clyde Loakes, Deputy Leader and Cabinet Member for the Environment, joins leafing crews in Leytonstone

"This time of year sees our road-sweeping crews' workload increase massively – my thanks go to them for going above and beyond to clear and recycle the leaves."

Tipping point: Naming and shaming for illegal rubbish dumpers

A new name and shame campaign has been launched to crack down on the fly-tippers who blight our streets with their unwanted rubbish.

The Council will release CCTV screen captures of fly-tippers caught in the act on the Council website in a rogues gallery.

A list of enviro-criminals who have been caught and fined for fly-tipping, littering and other anti-social behaviour will also be published online to deter residents from doing the same.

Cllr Clyde Loakes, Deputy Leader and Cabinet Member for the Environment, said: "We have zero-tolerance for fly-tippers who leave their litter in our borough. This is why we issue the maximum £400 fine when we catch offenders – and catch them we will."

"The council recently introduced

CCTV images catch fly-tippers in the act

a new overnight enforcement service to clear fly-tips and check for information that could identify those responsible. Since April it has already issued 438 Fixed Penalty Notices for fly-tipping, and to further assist in the campaign against the enviro-criminals we are also upgrading our CCTV network.

Alongside this, the council has a growing number of dedicated and committed residents who are providing us with regular intelligence to help catch those creating this fly-tipping blight in our neighbourhoods. The council is very thankful for their time and effort as we work with the community so that all can enjoy clean, safe streets.

New car club to make getting about even easier

Zipcar are providing a new flexible car share scheme

A new flexible car club has launched in Waltham Forest.

Zipcar, which already offers a fixed car scheme, is now offering a more flexible service as well.

Currently, 47 fixed car club bays are available in the borough with Zipcar. These give access to a car for round-trip journeys that, has to be returned to its original parking bay and can be booked in advance using an app.

In addition to this, Zipcar is now launching a new Flexible car club service and will be the first car club to offer both round-trip cars and flexible cars, from one app.

Once users have joined the club, they use the phone app to pick up and drop off cars in different locations within the permitted zone which is south of the North Circular.

Councillor Clyde Loakes, Deputy Leader and Member for the Environment, said: "This is another step forward in reducing congestion and making the borough cleaner. This service gives residents the flexibility to access to a car when they need one. They will save money as they do not have to organise tax, parking permits and insurance. The vehicles are also cleaner and more fuel efficient, meaning we can cut down pollution."

Zipcar Flex is the borough's second flexible car sharing service alongside DriveNow, who also currently operate in the borough.

We are always looking for environmental solutions, and encourage our residents to make use of this great scheme. For each car club vehicle that is introduced up to 20 private vehicles are taken off the road – this improves safety for all road users and reduces the amount of harmful vehicle emissions.

The winning bike hangar features a vibrant design

Hangar design is a hit

School-boy Rafe Bailey has won a competition to design a bike hangar to keep other children's bicycles safe and secure. The winning design features an abstract design of wheels and bike parts, and was spray painted onto the bike hangar by artist James Stock. The hangar is going to be located at St Mary's School. Council workers help resident to reclaim her 'unkempt garden'

Sometimes keeping your home or garden clean is a bigger job than you can take on by yourself – and that's where the Waltham Forest ServiceStore comes in.

ServiceStore can help if you need your space sorted or cleared, or your goods disposed of, no matter how large or small.

Leytonstone resident Mrs Ali has lived at her current address for 34 years. In that time she had collected a lot of old, bulky furniture which was getting in the way of the home decoration she wanted to do.

She had a lot to get rid of and said: "I was pleasantly surprised with ServiceStore's quote of only £78. The cost seemed very reasonable to me"

The team made light work of dismantling and loading the furniture, and made sure not to damage or mark any walls in the move.

She added: "Knowing

ServiceStore is Council backed made me feel safe and that I wasn't being ripped off. If I had any concerns I had someone to go back to.

"I also liked the fact that my old furniture would be disposed of correctly.

"ServiceStore House Clearance is a great value, practical service and the team make you feel as though nothing is too much work."

Walthamstow resident Clare

Stevenson thought the same about the ServiceStore Garden Clearance service she received.

After years of living in her Warner flat her garden was untidy and overgrown, with a crumbled old shed and an unkempt lawn.

She got a quote to have the garden fixed up which was a lot cheaper than competitors.

She said: "The guys were amazing – they arrived a few minutes early, went through what they were going to do and checked if I had any questions.

"The garden now looks amazing. It's allowed me to sit out and enjoy some tranquil space and relax – I have got my garden back!"

Countdown to hire bike arrival

Urbo Bikes are easy to hire using a smartphone

Hire bicycles will be available for hire around Waltham Forest at the end of this month.

A pilot scheme will bring 250 bikes to the borough which will be available to hire for 50p per half hour.

Bikes will be available to be picked up from 30 parking zones, which are near town centres, train, bus and tube stations, colleges and Whipps Cross Hospital.

Waltham Forest is among the first boroughs in London to launch such a scheme. If successful, more bikes will be introduced and it will become permanent next year.

Fran Graham, campaigns coordinator for the London Cycle Campaign, praised the scheme. She said: "People who do not have a bike can try a bike, including people who are not sure about buying a bike.

"We have a massive inactivity crisis in London and air pollution is a serious issue, so the more people we can enable to cycle around London, the better."

The bikes will be provided by Urbo, a company specialising in cycle hire across Europe. It will cost £1 to join the scheme.

To hire a bike, residents, workers and those visiting the borough, can find a bike at a parking zone or select one using Urbo's mobile phone app. Once you have chosen a bike you will receive a four digit code to type into the wheel lock. At the end of your journey you just need to click the lock back into place.

Cllr Clyde Loakes, Deputy Leader and Member for the Environment for Waltham Forest, said: "The scheme will enable cycling to be affordable and convenient and truly accessible to residents, workers and visitors.

"This offers affordable sustainable transport for the borough, and helps residents feel healthier through more exercise and less pollution."

Badly parked bikes will be quickly relocated thanks to GPS tracking on the bikes, and users who return bikes to the parking zones will be rewarded points on the app. Maintenance and repairs will be carried out by local cycle shops.

Zero emissions courier now delivers library books

Elderly and disabled residents can now have their library books delivered for free by ZED courier service.

To benefit from the home book delivery service residents should contact their local library.

ZED are already trialling the service in the borough, for libraries and local businesses including Perky Blenders and Organiclea.

ZED uses zero emission modes of transport such as cargo bikes and electric vans to make its deliveries.

The scheme launched after the Council secured funding from the Mayor's Air Quality Fund.

Cllr Clyde Loakes, Deputy Leader and Cabinet Member for the Environment at Waltham Forest Council, said: "Improving air quality is one of my main priorities – this scheme will transform how deliveries to and from businesses and residents are made whilst making our streets healthier, safer places for all to enjoy.

The ZED scheme will help the Council reduce the number of delivery vehicles on our roads and replace them with environmentally-friendly cargo bikes. Cargo bikes also hold a competitive advantage over motor vehicles as they can move easily around the borough and bypass congestion.

The council is committed to supporting local businesses within the borough. Waltham Forest has thousands of small independent businesses that can use the ZED service and enjoy the benefits the scheme provides. It will also encourage residents to shop locally, helping to boost the economy of the borough.

The ZED scheme follows the success of the 'Christmas Courier' pilot which saw 20 businesses participate and over 1,000 parcels delivered in December 2016.

Outspoken! Delivery have been appointed to operate the scheme alongside Waltham Forest Council. Outspoken! Delivery have already established successful zero emissions courier schemes in Cambridge, Norwich and Glasgow.

The news was announced at the council's Healthy Streets Conference, which took place in Walthamstow Assembly Hall on Thursday 28 September.

A thousand more trees to grow

Even more trees, like these ones in Leyton Jubilee Park, will be planted around the borough

Waltham Forest is set to gain a thousand more trees as the Council embarks on a large-scale planting programme.

There are currently almost 49,000 trees in the borough. A new strategy commits to planting more trees, and make sure that any felled trees are replaced, so that there will be around 50,000 trees in the borough.

The Council has also committed to doing everything it can to keep existing trees healthy, and will adopt the highest standards to do so.

Cllr Clyde Loakes, Deputy Leader and Cabinet Member for the Environment, said: "Our Tree Strategy protects these essential features of the borough's identity for future generations to enjoy. Trees bring many benefits to our borough – they provide shaded areas in which to relax and create green spaces that the whole community can enjoy. They can also provide significant health benefits that help to offset the effects of air pollution from traffic and industry.

The borough has a proud history of encouraging natural heritage and green initiatives. I know how much residents value our parks and open places – planting more trees makes these much-loved areas even more appealing, and provides habitats for local wildlife. Cllr Loakes said: I look forward to seeing splendid new trees growing in Waltham Forest over the next few years."

Trees produce oxygen and store carbon, helping to combat climate change, as well as boosting the local economy by improving the look and feel of borough streets and parks. They can also reduce the effects of cardiovascular and respiratory diseases as they filter harmful gases and particles from the air we breathe.

LOVE LLOYD PARK

Have your say on how the council manages Lloyd Park from 2020 onwards. Complete the Lloyd Park 2020 Survey at www.walthamforest.gov.uk/lloyd-park

In 2012, Lloyd Park was transformed by a major restoration, funded by the Heritage Lottery Fund and BIG Lottery Fund.

Since then, the council has been running a Communities Programme in the park, including:

- Volunteer gardening
- Nature conservation volunteering
- Family activities
- Under-5s club

- Walks, workshops and groups for adults
- Gardening training courses
- Group exercise classes

The council would like your views, to help decide on future priorities for Lloyd Park. Council funding beyond 2020 is uncertain, so we'll be looking at alternative ways to maintain and improve the park and continue to run activities.

The survey is open until 31 March 2018.

Wanted – Young artists to combat extremism

The borough's young people will become anti-extremism activists

A ground-breaking project aimed at countering the threat of extremism online is being launched in Waltham Forest and 16 – 21-year-olds are being asked to apply to lead on it.

'Arts Against Extremism' was launched this month as part of Hate Crime Awareness Week to allow 16-21 year olds to counter online extremism through their creativity.

Recent Home Office research shone a light on the large number of UK tweets containing extremist messages.

The new initiative has been created in partnership with the Home Office and the Arts Council. It will support people the borough's young people to become anti-extremism activists, flooding social media with messages and art promoting their local community.

Participants will be trained to use social media and deal with opposition online. They will create films that will be produced by world famous communications agency M&C Saatchi and screened at the 2018 Walthamstow Film Festival.

Councillor Sharon Waldron, Cabinet Member for Community Safety and Cohesion, said: "All too often our media space is filled with extremist rhetoric. There is a clear need for positive messages and a counter-narrative.

"I'd urge any young person interested in becoming a voice for social change to sign up."

Jevell Hibbert, 16, has already signed up and wants to encourage others to join him. He said: "This programme will be a step towards making Waltham Forest a more positive place to live, the air a little bit clearer and the world a safer place. I believe that the younger generations have the skills to tackle this."

Walthamstow resident and anti-female genital mutilation (FGM) campaigner, Hibo Wardere, is supporting Arts Against Extremism. She said: "I am very excited to work on this pioneering project. It recognises the wider harms of extremism, including FGM, and aims to engage youth in becoming a positive voice that stands up against it.

"I will be following the project's every move online and supporting it wherever I can."

The deadline to register to get involved is 27 November.

Hate Crime Awareness Week began after a candlelit vigil for Ian Baynham

Hate Crime Awareness

This month the borough marked National Hate Crime Awareness Week with a series of events to inform and engage with residents. A Hate Crime round table event rounded off the week's events, which included a remembrance service, a Faith Communities AGM and a Twitter takeover. Hate Crime Awareness week was established after a 2012 vigil for Ian Baynham who died from injuries he gained during a homophobic attack. With the intention of helping local authorities, police services and statutory agencies to work with diverse communities affected by hate crime, the week raises awareness of hate crime, how to report it and where to seek support.

Our schools commended

Seven Waltham Forest primaries have been commended as exceptional by the Mayor of London under the Schools for Success programme. The initiative aims to tackle education inequality and increase standards for all London schoolchildren. It celebrates schools that are achieving academic success with an emphasis on disadvantaged or vulnerable students. Sadiq Khan commended Ainslie Wood, Mayville, Newport, South Grove, St Patrick's, Whittington and Woodside primary schools, and secondary Walthamstow School for Girls. In 2016 more than 39,000 primary school pupils and 30,000 secondary school pupils did not reach expected levels. The new programme aims to change this by creating a network for these schools to share best practice with others across London.

Celebrities are backing our bid to be first Borough of Culture

Blur's Damon Albarn, from Leytonstone, is supporting the bid

Musician Damon Albarn, award-winning author Dreda Say Mitchell, photographer David Bailey, choreographer Sir Matthew Bourne and singer and X factor finalist Fleur East are amongst a long list of current and former Waltham Forest residents who are supporting the borough's bid.

Their letter said: "Awarding Waltham Forest 'London Borough of Culture', would have a tremendous impact; putting the borough on the world map and inspiring the next generation of budding artists."

"At a time when Waltham Forest is changing fast it will create new opportunities and bring economic prosperity to residents and workers.

"We each have our own individual and special connections to Waltham Forest, but are collectively proud to endorse, and wholeheartedly support, Waltham Forest's campaign to be the first London Borough of Culture; a borough that is the ideal canvas on which to showcase London and highlight our great city at its cultural best – diverse, quirky, creative and fun."

Photographer David Bailey CBE was born in Leytonstone. He said:

"Waltham Forest is an example of London at its cultural best, as a vibrant and growing hub for artists, performers and creative start-ups."

Author, journalist, campaigner and Walthamstow resident, Dreda Say Mitchell added: "Becoming London's first Borough of Culture would set the seal on what's already happening and acknowledge that when it comes to the arts – Waltham Forest has got the lot!"

Council Leader Cllr Clare Coghill said: "From the very start of this competition, we have always believed that we are a front runner to be named as London's first ever Borough of Culture. We have been overwhelmed by the response to our bid and heartened that so many people – from across arts and culture – support our bid so wholeheartedly. We are honoured to have the support of renowned artists such as Bob and Roberta Smith, Damon Albarn, and Dreda Say Mitchell each of whom has a special connection with Waltham Forest. Spurred on by their support we will continue to put together a bid that shows why we deserve this award."

Over 6,000 people have already pledged their support for the campaign.

...And school kids are getting online to support Waltham Forest

School pupils are creating an online Forest of Culture as part of the bid to be London's first Borough of Culture.

Over the coming weeks pupils will be choosing someone, somewhere or something that best represents local culture and creativity to them. They will then design their own 'oak trees' and 'acorns' – oak trees to represent their favourite cultural highlights that have already taken root in the borough and acorns to express their dreams and ideas for culture in the future.

The acorns and oak trees will create an online Forest of Culture, mapping out the best-loved places and memories from children right across Waltham Forest. The borough's most impressive and creative acorn ideas will also win pupils a visit to their school from a local celebrity later this term.

Cllr Grace Williams, Cabinet Member for Children and Young

People at Waltham Forest Council, said: "Children and Young People are the creative future of the borough and schools are hotbeds of talent and imagination within our local communities, so through this new programme we want to get the best and brightest ideas to inspire our bid."

"As the new generation of artists, performers and creators, it is essential that our bid is something that young people in the borough want and would benefit from. We can't wait to see our online Forest of Culture flourish over the next few months as schools and colleges contribute to the campaign."

Maureen Okoye OBE, Chief Executive of Arbour Academy Trust, which runs two primary schools in the borough, said: "As well as being a brilliant opportunity to showcase the artistic talents of our own school community, this will encourage our pupils to reflect on their local culture

Young people will have the chance to have an impact on the Borough of Culture bid and think critically and creatively about how it could be improved.

I hope the children will enjoy seeing their 'forest of ideas' take shape, knowing that their ideas are impacting the future of culture in the borough."

The schools programme is being developed by the borough's bid team in collaboration with SVA Projects.

1. NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Council of the London Borough of Waltham Forest (“the Council”) on 23rd October 2017 made the above-mentioned Order under sections 45, 46, 49 and 124 of and Part IV of Schedule 9 to the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984.

2. The general effect of the Order will be to –

(a) make provision for the issue of one ‘hard-copy’ resident parking permit or the grant of one ‘virtual’ resident parking permit per year free of charge to any resident who is the holder of a valid disabled persons badge (‘blue badge’); (b) make provision for the issue of one additional book of thirty (30) 1 hour ‘hard-copy’ visitor parking permits or the grant of thirty additional 1 hour ‘virtual’ visitor parking permits per year free of charge to any resident household in which one or more of the residents is 60 years of age or over, making a total of sixty (60) 1 hour visitor parking permits available free of charge to such a household per year; (c) introduce a ‘carers permit’ which, upon successful application, would be available free of charge to any carer registered with the Council who is in receipt of a DWP Carers Allowance and who is providing care to a resident living in a controlled parking zone (‘CPZ’) in the London Borough of Waltham Forest (‘the borough’), regardless of whether or not that carer resides in the borough, and which would permit that carer to park without time limit in a resident parking place or permit shared-use parking place within that CPZ whilst providing care to that resident.

The Council would, in addition, consider applications for a carers permit on a case by case basis from carers who are not in receipt of a DWP Carers Allowance but who provide care to a resident living in a CPZ in the borough. Medical documents would need to be provided to the Council by the resident receiving care to support such an application. In such a case the carers permit would be charged at the current resident parking permit charge rates – as detailed on the council’s website, see:- <https://walthamforest.gov.uk/node/356> A carers permit may be either issued in the form of a ‘hard-copy’ (paper) permit or granted as a ‘virtual’ permit.

(d) restrict the eligibility provision for the issue or grant of charity parking permits to charities registered with the Charities Commission only; (e) expand the eligibility provision for the issue or grant of school staff parking permits so as to include school staff who are residents of the London Borough of Waltham Forest (‘the borough’); (f) expand the eligibility provision for the issue or grant of essential user parking permits so as to include Police Officers; (g) to reduce to a maximum of 8 hours the daily cap on the number of 1 hour hard-copy visitor permits or 1 hour virtual visitor permits required to permit all-day visitor parking in any of the borough’s controlled parking zones (‘CPZs’) where the permitted hours are more than 8 hours in duration; and (h) introduce provision for the issue or grant of a new tradespersons permit, which may be applied for by CPZ residents on the behalf of tradespersons engaged in work at their home address, and which would be available as a either a 7 day single zone permit (£25) or 28 day single zone permit (£90);

A tradespersons permit may be either issued in the form of a ‘hard-copy’ (paper) permit or granted as a ‘virtual’ permit and the charges above apply for all vehicle emission bands:

3. A copy of the Order, which will come into force on 23rd October 2017 and other relevant documents can be inspected during normal office hours on Mondays to Fridays inclusive until the expiration of a period of 6 weeks from that date, at: (a) The Information Desk, Town Hall, Forest Road, Walthamstow, E17; and (b) Low Hall, Argall Avenue, London, E10 7AS.

4. If any person wishes to question the validity of the Order or of any of its provisions on the grounds that they are not within the powers conferred by the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984, or that any requirement of that Act or any instrument made under that Act has not been complied with, that person may, within 6 weeks from the date on which the Order is made, apply for the purpose to the High Court.
